SUMMARY

Principal Software Engineer with 3+ years building production web applications in JavaScript and TypeScript across logistics, workforce technology and client software. My primary stack is TypeScript and JavaScript across React, Next.js, Node.js and Express, backed by PostgreSQL and AWS. I prefer owning a feature end to end: the schema, the API, the screens people actually use, and the deployment that puts it in front of them. Most of what I build comes down to backend APIs, database driven applications, real time features, dashboards, payment flows and the customer facing product on top of them. I care about writing software that stays understandable, maintainable and reliable once other people have to work on it.

EXPERIENCE

FULLSTACK · AVANT TECH · Lagos, Nigeria · 2026

Avant Tech is a workforce and technology services company, locally incorporated in Nigeria as part of the international Avant Tech group. It offers recruitment and staffing, background checks, payroll, business process outsourcing, staff management, training, and custom software development for banking, insurance, healthcare, manufacturing and retail clients.

- Developed application screens for Avant One, a customer experience platform for regulated industries, incorporating access control and audit trail requirements into the frontend.
- Developed the React frontend against PostgreSQL and implemented tenant-aware data access through PostgreSQL row level security.

Stack: React, Supabase, PostgreSQL, shadcn/ui

FRONTEND · SEND24 · Lagos, Nigeria · February 2025 – Present

Send24 is a same day delivery platform covering all 36 states of Nigeria. It offers flat rate pricing per delivery, real time tracking with delivery alerts, low cost hub drop offs, pickup from offices, bulk upload for corporate shipments, a Send24 Pro subscription, a vendor app, and a business dashboard for delivery history, costs and performance.

- Developed the Next.js web platform's instant quote flow, calculating delivery quotes from pickup and destination addresses.
- Implemented map based hub search with the Google Maps API, enabling customers to locate available delivery hubs.
- Developed shipment booking and tracking flows in Next.js, supporting the customer journey from booking through delivery tracking.

Stack: Next.js, React, React Query, Google Maps API

FRONTEND · DEVHEIT · Remote · 2024

DevHeit is a software development and IT consulting company that builds and supports web and mobile software for businesses in the public and private sectors, and has delivered projects for clients around the world.

- Developed scalable and secure web applications for client projects.
